Journal of Irish Urban Studies
Volume 1 Number 1 2002

Introduction to Journal of Irish Urban Studies
Notes for Contributors
Contents
General Editors and Editorial Board

ARTICLES
Brendan Williams and Patrick Shiels
The Expansion of Dublin and the Policy Implications of Dispersal

Andrew MacLaran and James Killen
The Suburbanisation of Office Development in Dublin and its Transport Implications

Hendrik van der Kamp
Transport Infrastructures and Sustainability of Urban Development

Deiric Ó Broin
Participation at the Periphery: Community Participation in Reformed Local Government Structures

Michael Punch
Local Development Issues on the Urban Periphery: Tallaght from the Bottom-Up

PAPERS FROM PRACTICE
Dick Gleeson
Dublin’s North Fringe: A New Model for Suburban Greenfield Development

Bob Biddlecombe
Planning Suburbia: Development Density Issues

The Journal of Irish Urban Studies is published by the Centre for Urban & Regional Studies, Trinity College Dublin and the Faculty of the Built Environment, Dublin Institute of Technology.

They wish to acknowledge the generous financial support of NorDubCo (The North Dublin Development Coalition)