In the nomination of Board members, the competencies and expertise of nominees in areas related to education should be an important consideration.

I have a responsibility to account to my nominating group regarding the work of the Board.

I rarely disagree openly with other members at board meetings.

On the Board, I act more according to my personal understanding of issues and school needs, rather than as a representative of my nominating group.

Conflict arises often at our meetings.

In reaching decisions, there is a willingness among members to compromise when interests conflict.

I often feel a conflict of loyalty between my responsibilities to those who nominated me and the interests of the school.

I believe that Board members see themselves primarily as representatives of their nominating group.

Nominees from particular groups tend to support one another at meetings (e.g. parents support each other, teachers support each other, trustee nominees support each other).

The confidentiality of the Board meeting is maintained.

Before reaching an important decision, the Board usually seeks input (reactions, opinions, information) from persons who are likely to be affected by the decision.
31. We spend time at our meetings discussing the concerns of the wider community served by the school.
32. There is regular formal contact between me and my nominating group (parents or teachers or trustees).
33. The Board does not seem able to address many of the issues which concern me as a member.
34. Board business reflects more closely the needs of the professional staff of the school than the needs of parents.
35. Important decisions which, I believe, should be made at Board meetings are made outside the meetings.
36. The powers of the Board are too limited to address the needs expressed to it.
37. The professional expertise of teachers is respected by the Board.
38. There is a group spirit and a sense of cohesiveness among the members of the Board.
39. There is an atmosphere of openness and trust at Board meetings.
40. Board decisions are taken usually through majority vote of the members rather than by consensus.
41. Some interest groups exercise undue influence on the board.
42. If you have agreed or strongly agreed with the last statement please indicate what you perceive as the order of influence within the board, by ranking the following interests on a scale of 1-5, beginning with 1 to indicate the highest order of influence.

| parent interests | [ ] | chairperson [ ] | [ ] |
| teacher interests | [ ] | principal [ ] | [ ] |
| trustee interests | [ ] |

43. The Board provides a periodic (e.g. annual) report of its activities to the trustees of the school.
44. The Board monitors the implementation of its policies and plans.
45. The Board reviews the operations of the school periodically.
46. The Board has on occasion evaded responsibility for an important issue facing the school.
47. The Board usually accepts recommendations from the principal with little questioning by the members.
48. The Board receives financial reports regularly.
49. The Board reviews the academic performance of the school.
50. The extra-curricular areas of the school e.g. sport, are reviewed by the Board.
51. The Board sees itself as primarily accountable to (tick one only):
    51.1 the trustees of the school [ ]
    51.2 the Department of Education [ ]
    51.3 its nominating groups [ ]
    51.4 other [ ]
52. The trustees ensure that each new Board is briefed on its role and responsibilities.

53. Important issues raised at meetings are often postponed until further information can be obtained.

54. There are aspects of the school I would like to know more about as a Board member, but I do not feel comfortable enquiring about them.

55. I actively seek out information rather than wait for it to be given at the Board meeting.

56. Other Board members seem to have information that I lack on key issues relating to the work of the Board.

57. The board is well-informed about wider educational issues.

58. The Board takes sufficient time to conduct its business.

59. I feel that I have an opportunity to express my views at meetings.

60. I feel that the Board takes my views into account in arriving at its decisions.

61. Board members tend to put the interests of their nominating groups above the interests of the school.

62. Most of the decisions are arrived at by agreement rather than by taking a vote.

63. After a decision is made, it is supported by all the members.

64. All members become actively involved in board discussions.

65. There is a positive working relationship between the professionals [principal and teachers] and the laity [trustee and parent nominees] on the Board.

66. Most members of the Board rely on informal discussions and observation of how things are done to learn about their role and responsibilities.

67. As a new member, I was given an introduction to the work of the Board.

68. I have sufficient understanding of the technical information needed to manage the school.

69. Board decisions are generally unanimous.

70. I consult the Deed of Trust (community schools) or Articles of Management (secondary schools) at least occasionally.

71. As a Board member, I feel adequately prepared for my role.

72. I participate actively at Board meetings through

Important issues raised at meetings are often postponed until further information can be obtained.

Some Board members appear reticent in enquiring about the school

The officers of the Board (chairperson and/or secretary) make an effort to ensure that all members have similar information on important issues on the agenda.

The Board is well informed about wider educational issues.

Board members, at least occasionally, seek information about the school outside of Board meetings.

The frequency of Board meetings is sufficient for the Board to fulfill its role.

I feel that I have an opportunity to express my views at meetings.

I feel that the Board takes my views into account in arriving at its decisions.

Board members tend to put the interests of their nominating groups above the interests of the school.

Most of the decisions are arrived at by agreement rather than by taking a vote.

After a decision is made, it is supported by all the members.

Generally, Board discussions are free and frank.

Generally, all members become involved in Board deliberations.

There is a positive working relationship between the professionals [principal and teachers] and the laity [trustee and parent nominees] on the Board.

From your perspective, with regard to your meetings, which of the following groups speak most.

- [ ] parents
- [ ] trustees
- [ ] teachers
- [ ] all equally

Board decisions are generally unanimous.

Our Board members participate at meetings mainly through:

68.1 asking questions
68.2 listening to and taking note of opinions expressed
68.3 providing information to the board
68.4 making proposals at meetings

With regard to your Board - who sets the agenda for meetings:

- [ ] chairperson
- [ ] principal
- [ ] chairperson and principal
- [ ] sub-committee
- [ ] there is a standard agenda
- [ ] there is no formal agenda
- [ ] we develop the agenda at the meeting

Board members propose items for the agenda.
Most members of this Board appear to rely on informal discussion and observation of how things are done to learn about their role and responsibilities.

Board members are adequately prepared through training for their role.

Most members have an adequate understanding of the technical information needed to run the school.

I consult the Deed of Trust (community schools) or Articles of Management (secondary schools) at least occasionally.

There is no need for formal training of Board members.

Taking everything into account, I am satisfied that my Board:

76.1 has a good understanding of its role.

76.2 is an effective leader for the school.

76.3 makes a difference in how the school functions.

76.4 determines policy for the school.

76.5 welcomes participation from all its members at meetings.

76.6 enjoys good working relationships between Board members.

76.7 has a good working relationship with you as the school principal.

76.8 is a democratic decision-making body.

76.9 has access to sufficient information for good decision-making.

76.10 has a good knowledge of what is happening in the school.

76.11 has a sufficient understanding of the educational issues that arise at Board meetings.

76.12 deals with significant issues of policy for the ongoing success of the school.

76.13 has made the management of the school more democratic.

My experience of working with my Board of Management has been

APPENDIX THREE

LETTERS
March 31, 1998

Dear Principal:

I am writing to invite you to participate in a study of Boards of Management in Community and Voluntary Secondary Schools from the perspective of their effectiveness. I am conducting this study as part of my Ph.D. thesis currently underway at Trinity College, Dublin under the supervision of Dr. Seamus McGuinness. The study is prompted by the growing interest among the public in how education is managed, a reappraisal by parents and communities of their influence on the educational provision, and a personal interest of the writer in how boards are functioning particularly in the light of their evolving role in Irish educational management. There is very little substantive study of boards of management operations in second level schools in Ireland, or of what constitutes effectiveness on these boards.

I am enclosing a survey-questionnaire. This questionnaire seeks to address the experience of board members in the Irish context with a view to determining the core characteristics of the role and operations of boards from their perspective. The questionnaire has seventy seven main items. To complete it, you are invited to tick one box in response to each item. It should take approximately thirty minutes to complete. There is no need to search out any information. Principals from a sample of voluntary secondary and community school boards are being asked to respond. A similar (but not identical) questionnaire is being issued to the board members in these schools. The completed questionnaire should be returned to me in the attached envelope before May 1, 1998 if possible.

I wish to assure you that individual names, schools, or boards, or other identifying information will not be used in the report of the study. The confidentiality of your responses will be maintained at all times.

Enclosed please find a stamped, self-addressed envelope to expedite the timely return of the completed questionnaire. Thank you for your willingness to participate in this study and for your timely return of the questionnaire. The success of the study depends on your participation.

Yours sincerely,

James Mungovan

Dear

I wish to thank you for distributing the questionnaires relating to my study of the boards of management forwarded to you at the beginning of April. The response to date has been very encouraging and for that I say "thanks" to all those who completed the questionnaire. To date 30% of the voluntary school board members, 28% of the community school board members, 65% of the voluntary secondary principals and 65% of the community school principals have responded. I am aware that many boards have not met since the questionnaires were received in your schools. I am also aware that this is a very busy month for boards and principals. I would appreciate if you would be kind enough to mention the questionnaire at your next meeting by way of a reminder to board members who have not returned it so far. The deadline of May 1, 1998 is now dead! I will be happy to receive responses over the summer period.

Yours sincerely,

James Mungovan
